Tom Gormley, the big Georgetown tackle who is barred from competion in football pending an investigation of charges to the effect that Gormley bit a chunk out of Center McEwan' arm at West Point three weeks ago, will not be in the game against Caro-lina A. & M. here on Saturday. Georgetown officials have demanded Georgetown officials have demanded that West Point furnish proofs of Gormley's guilt, but up to date these proofs have not been received and the committee in charge of the matter on the Hill is still probing the matter. In justice to Gormley the Georgetown officials should take definite action regarding this business and it is rather tough on the player to be forced to sit on the side lines while investigations are being conducted.

Lets have a speedy decision, Georgetown.

Lacks Intuition.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 10.—"The Harvard and Princeton teams outclass Yale in every department of play."

Said Dr. Billy Bull, the Yale football coach. "All we can do against Princeton is to hope that things will break well for us. But you never can tell what a Yale team is going to do. , "One of the greatest weaknesses in the Yale team is a lack of football, savvy. The man don't show the natural football intuition. The rush line may be altered for the Princeton game, but very little can be done for the back field.

"Capt. Eddie Mahan. of the Harvard team, has more football stuff in him than any man I have ever seen, and I've seen a lot. I believe he is the greatest all-around player on the field today."
